The House That Love Is Building

Katie's House has achieved an amazing transformation over the past 6 months. We hired a number of licensed contractors who made important contributions to the overall project (eg. plumbing, electrical, egress from the 2nd and 3rd floors etc.) paid from our general operating account. Then the American Society of Interior Design took over from their.

Thanks to ASID, who accepted Katie's House as their 2006 Service Project, the entire inside of the house was spackled, painted, tiled, carpeted upstairs, floors refinished downstairs and completely equipped with new furniture, kitchen cabinets, appliances and bathroom vanities All this was provided by vendors, suppliers and contractors with whom ASID work. Spearheaded by ASID Designer Carrie Oesmann and co-chair Mary Brennan, a total of 19 designers accepted this challenge. On November 18th, Katie's House hosted an open house, allowing the general public to view the work of these talented designers.

Although much has been accomplished, much yet remains to be done to make Katie's House a home. Aside from our normal monthly expenses such as mortgage, heat and electric we still must reside the building exterior, finish the large attic, replace the basement steps and put on a new front porch.... All this while our cash reserves are at an all time low. We are confident that your continued support will enable us to "cross our finish line" in 2007. Our plan is to accept applications for compatible individuals in January and open the house for residents in mid 2007.

Our Future

When our group home is occupied the next step is to open a sheltered work shop. The dream of a home is almost realized and the next will be a place for the residents and others in need, to have a place to work every day that will insure self respect and dignity.
